

Abraham David Angel

15-07-1986 Chabas 187 cm 85 kg
Defender

Clubs:

Independiente 2003-04 4 1
Independiente 2004-05 26 0
Independiente 2005-06 22 0
Independiente 2006-07 17 1
Gimnastic Spain 2007-08 36 3
Basel Switzerland 2008-09 33 0
Basel Switzerland 2009-10 21 0
Basel Switzerland 2010-11 28 5
Basel Switzerland 2011-12 23 3
Getafe Spain 2012-13 9 0
Hoffenheim Germany 2012-13 12 0
Hoffenheim Germany 2013-14 20 0

David Abraham first season despite David Abraham youth and lack of experience. David Abraham performances led to being called up to the Argentina national under-20 football team to play at the 2005 FIFA World Youth Championship in the Netherlands. Argentina won the tournament with a squad that included Sergio Agüero, Fernando Gago and Lionel Messi.

In 2007 David Abraham moved to Gimnàstic de Tarragona in the Spanish second division Segunda División with the assurance they would be promoted to La Liga by the end of the season. This did not happen, Gimnàstic finishing 14th. Abraham then signed a four-year contract with Swiss Super League FC Basel on 8 July 2008. David Abraham made David Abraham debut on 18 July 2008, in a 2-1 win over BSC Young Boys at the Stade de Suisse, Wankdorf. David Abraham played David Abraham first European game in a Basel shirt on 30 July 2008 in a 1-1 UEFA Champions League 2008–09 match draw against IFK Göteborg at Ullevi. David Abraham first goal for Basel was in a UEFA Champions League group match against FC Shakhtar Donetsk at St. Jakob-Park on 16 September 2008. The match ended 2-1 to Shakhtar.